

Disaster recovery keeps a second copy of data in another region.

DR stands for disaster recovery. When a regional failure happens, the replica takes over.

Daily run jobs continue on the standby site because replication stays enabled.